Finals Could Be Decided in Rodeo

Eligibility for the first National Finals Rodeo—rodeo's world series—may be decided for several cowboy contestants here at the Torrance Rodeo.

Contestants in the first Finals Rodeo, which will wind up the 1959 rodeo season with a five-day run-off to decide the world's championships in each event, will be the top 15 men in the championship standings at the end of the regular season.

The standings are based on the amount of prize money won through the year. The cowboys who have won the most money at rodeos approved by the Rodeo

Boiler Shop. Phone Calls Get Blast

A stand against telephone "boiler shops" was requested of the City Council Tuesday by the Chamber of Commerce.

Fred Mill, former president of the Chamber, said that for years citizens and businessmen have been plagued by unscrupulous telephone solicitations.

"This condition is continuing at a rapidly increasing rate and has resulted in unhappy citizens, bad publicity and a rash of complaints to this office," Mill wrote. He said that probably all that can be done by the city is to take a stand against the telephone solicitations, although he acknowledged that it is probably operated within the law.

Mill said that while he did not wish to include organized charities in the complaint, he thought that even these should engage in personal or mail contacts.

Cowboys Association will go to the Finals.
